PRINCIPAL'S PERSPECTIVE – I have never been a fan of Duke basketball. However, this past Saturday I watched the Duke game against North Carolina and the post game festivities that took place because it was Coach Mike Krzyzewski's last home game after coaching for over 40 years. Why did I do this? I am not a Duke basketball fan, but I am a basketball fan. I can respect Coach K for what he has done. It is not just all the winning he has done (most wins as a coach and 5 national championships), but how he has done it. He has done it with dignity and respect. He taught his players to be a team and to share a bond. This bond was evident by the number of former players who were at this game. It is a lifelong bond of being there for one another at all times.

At Eastside Lutheran School God's Word permeates through everything we do. Our teachers, pastors, and staff members are all dedicated and committed to keeping the focus on Jesus and what he has done for us. The teachers, pastors, staff, students, and parents share a bond. It is the bond of forgiveness given to us through the grace and mercy of our loving Savior. It is a bond that gives us the hope of eternal life in heaven. It is a bond that causes us to be there for one another. It is a bond that causes us to grow in Jesus and tell of His love. May God continue to bless your journey during this Lent season!
